Reprocessed Stanley® Chair Sensor and Sensormat® Pads Description
The Reprocessed STANLEY® Chair Sensor and Sensormat® Pads are sensor pads designed for use with STANLEY® Fall Alarms to detect when a patient has taken weight off the sensor to help notify nurses and caregivers that the patient has gotten up from a sitting or resting position.

Indications for Use
The Stryker Sustainability Solutions Reprocessed STANLEY® Chair Sensor and Sensormat® Pads are designed to sense body-weight distributed over an area to detect when the patient lifts off the chair.

Warnings and Precautions
- Read all instructions carefully prior to use. Failure to do so could result in injury of a person in your care.
- Always test the system before each use.
- Chair Sensor and Sensormat® pads are not recommended for persons weighing less than 70 lbs.
- Chair Sensor and Sensormat® pads can be defeated by a cognitively aware person, a person with only a few moments of lucidity or an uncooperative person. Properly assess each individual before a Chair Sensor or Sensormat® pad is used.
- The device should not be considered a substitute for routine staff visual monitoring consistent with your facility protocols or other regulations.
- Keep the Chair Sensor or Sensormat® pad flat at all times. Do not bend, fold, roll, submerge in liquid, or tamper with the Chair Sensor or Sensormat® pad. If the Chair Sensor or Sensormat® pad is folded, it may not function properly.
- Sterilization by heat, gas or radiation voids all warranties.
- Use only with the compatible STANLEY® Healthcare M200, Bed-Check®, UMP®, Micro-Tech® or Tabs Mobility brand fall monitors.
- For best sensitivity, place the Chair Sensor or Sensormat® pad above any other pads.
- Route the cable to the monitor so that it does not cross the pad surface, is not a trip hazard, and cannot be damaged by chair or wheelchair mechanisms.
- Follow the Fall Monitor User Manual procedures to connect the pad's cable and to test system functions.
- Before each use and then daily thereafter, test system functions and check the pad's expiration date. If any test fails or the pad has expired, discard the pad and DO NOT place it into service.
- Chair Sensor or Sensormat® pads may not be effective with all air-type cushions, and effectiveness may be impacted by the patient/resident's weight. Test before using.
- Operators of this equipment must be familiar with the functions and usage described in the Monitor User Guide and must be properly trained in the resident care policies and procedures of the facility.

Directions for Use
1. Read all Chair Sensor or Sensormat® pad and alarm instructions prior to use.
2. Check that Chair Sensor or Sensormat® pad, cord, and plug are clean and undamaged. Discard entire sensor if there is any damage.
3. When putting sensor pad into use, record the first use date and calculate expiration date from initial use.
4. Place the Chair Sensor or Sensormat® pad across the width of the chair or wheelchair seat with the labeled side up.
    a. For best sensitivity, place the Chair Sensor or Sensormat® pad above any other pads. An incontinence pad may be placed above the Chair Sensor or Sensormat® pad.
5. Adjust the position so that it fits directly under the patient/resident's buttocks. The most favorable location is toward the rear of the seat, close to the chair back.
6. Plug the Chair Sensor or Sensormat® pad into the fall monitor and test before using (refer to Directions for Testing Chair Sensor or Sensormat® Pad).

Directions for Testing Chair Sensor or Sensormat® Pad
1. Plug the Chair Sensor or Sensormat® pad into the alarm monitor.
2. Apply FULL and FIRM palm pressure with your hand to the Chair Sensor or Sensormat® pad, and then remove pressure to make sure local audible alarm is functioning properly.
3. Repeat this pressure/release test in several different areas along the entire length of the sensor pad to ensure entire sensor pad functions properly.
4. If nurse call is used, make sure connections are properly made and functioning correctly.
